

Satellite System Integrators

The Company

S3 Satcom offers the Broadcast and Telecommunications market a complete range of turnkey solutions to meet their communications needs. Products include Fixed Earth Station systems, VSAT Networks and Remote Control Software. The Company also provides Maintenance and Installation Services.

Fixed Earth Stations

Using the full range of earth station components available on the market, S3 Satcom undertakes the design, build, installation and commissioning of small and medium sized satellite earth station systems. Typical applications include TV contribution uplinks, TV distribution networks, Direct to Home TV broadcast uplinks, data networks, national and international telephony networks.

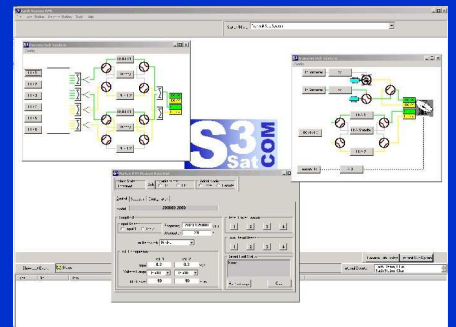

VSAT Systems

S3 Satcom offers VSAT systems which operate using frame relay and includes SCPC, MCPC and DAMA with time division multiple access technology. This technology is ideal for small to medium sized networks and provides computer and voice connections to bespoke national and international networks in both the commercial and government market sectors.

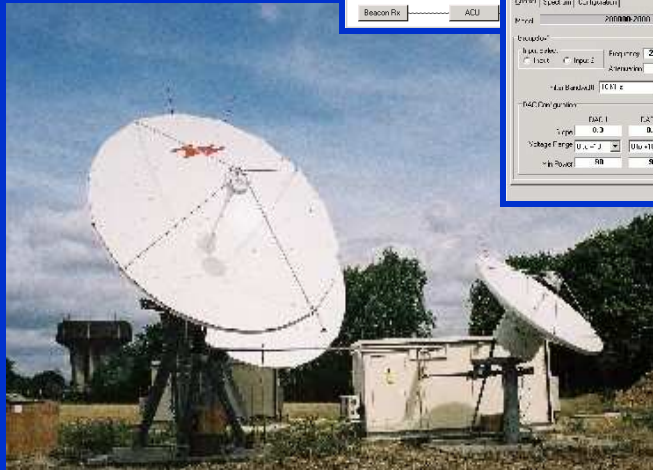

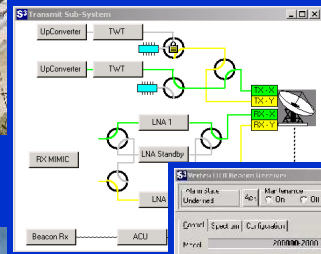

Remote Control and Monitoring Software

S3 Satcom has its own state of the art software system for the control and monitoring of Fixed Earth Station systems and VSAT networks. Running on a windows platform, the software utilises the latest techniques. A familiar graphical interface ensures ease of use whilst comprehensive logging coupled with user configurable password protected access provides the system manager with full control of the system operation

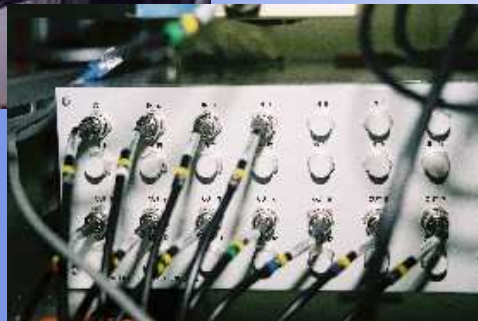

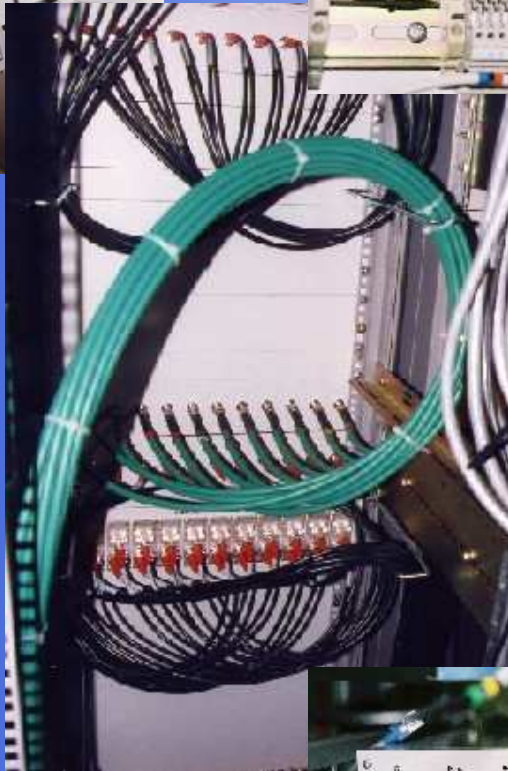

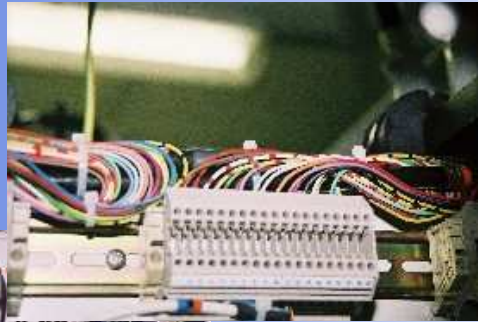

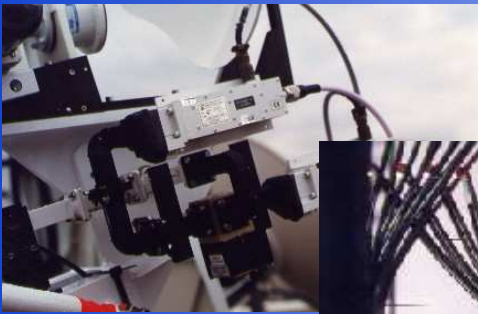

Maintenance and Service

The staff of S3 Satcom have been providing satellite systems worldwide for almost twenty years. In the past, service and maintenance in the satellite industry has been undertaken using internal staff. Today however, the level of internal technical skills within most satellite operators has been reducing due to the commercial pressures. S3 Satcom is able to fill this gap using its skills and abilities to provide earth station maintenance services.
